ABOUT ME

I'm a hardworking, responsible person with strong teamwork and communication skills. I'm defined by my adaptability and continuous learning, and I'm always eager to keep training. I'm consistent, flexible and I like work done well. I love the ICT world: it's both my job and my hobby. Methodical, responsible and committed. Loyal and present for the people who matter to me.

Web developer with over 20 years of experience, Full Stack and working on modern frontend with React and TypeScript. Throughout my career I have worked both on international SaaS products and in digital agencies, combining technical judgment, design sensibility and attention to detail.

HIGHLIGHTS

- 20+ years: of professional experience in web development: frontend, backend and deployment.
- International SaaS product: as Senior Frontend at ChairingTool (AI scientific conferences). 35+ conferences using the tool.
- Top-tier clients in agency work: Tous, Castañer, Havaianas, RACC, Boboli, Revlon, Muy Mucho, Textura, among others.
- Active exploration of AI applied to development.

FEATURED PROJECT

ChairingTool — chairingtool.com

SaaS platform to manage peer review and submission management for international scientific conferences, especially in the artificial intelligence field. It lets chairs coordinate the whole cycle: paper submission, reviewer assignment, decision tracking and committee management, the paper admission process for authors and paper review by reviewers, all online.

My role: Senior Frontend Developer on the core team. Development and maintenance of the frontend with React, TypeScript, Redux and styled-components; internationalization with i18next; integration with a Laravel backend; and development of the chairingtool.com landing page.

FEATURED PROJECT FREELANCE

Gegants de Sant Pere de les Puel·les — gegantspuelles.cat

Corporate website and content platform for a Barcelona folk-culture organisation. Project developed end-to-end with a Next.js frontend and a decoupled Strapi CMS, deployed on independent servers. The architecture combines static generation (SSG) to improve performance and SEO with a Strapi webhook that updates the frontend content when changes are published in the CMS.

Architecture and deployment: Dockerized frontend and backend. Next.js and Strapi deployed on independent servers. Separate development and production environments. Static generation of public pages with Static Site Generation. Strapi webhook to trigger frontend content updates. Automatic deployment to development on push via GitHub Actions. Controlled production deployment via a Bash function that updates the repository and rebuilds the container with Docker Compose.
